Firestone | FAST FACT

World Wide Technology Raceway is a track enjoyed by many NTT INDYCAR SERIES drivers because of its unique egg shape. This layout means drivers will be going straight for 44% of their lap time, compared to other ovals on the schedule where lap time spent in the straights can be as little as 7%. At each end of the egg-shaped track, the corners have their own distinct bank angles and turning radiuses that challenge drivers as they make their way around the 1.25-mile oval on Firestone Firehawk race tires.
